Top Glove Corporation

Making progress on plans to list in HK

- Reuters, a global news provider, reported that its sources indicate that TOPG has hired banks to arrange a Hong Kong listing that can raise US$1bn-2bn.
- Yesterday, TOPG made a Bursa announcement indicating that it is evaluating a dual primary listing on Hong Kong's stock exchange.
- Reiterate Add, with unchanged TP of RM10.00 (17x CY22F P/E).

Reuters reported that TOPG has hired banks to arrange a HK listing

- Reuters, a global news provider, reported that two unnamed sources revealed that Top Glove (TOPG) has hired three banks (Citigroup C.N, China International Capital Corporation, and UBS) to arrange a Hong Kong (HK) listing.
- While this information has been neither confirmed by TOPG nor made public at this juncture, sources indicate that TOPG is aiming to raise up to US$1bn-2bn (RM4.1bn-8.2bn based on US$/RM rate of RM4.14) from this listing.
- Note that TOPG is currently listed in both Malaysia and Singapore. Our channel checks reveal that a potential HK listing would take up to 6-9 months.

TOPG is evaluating a dual primary listing on HK stock exchange

- To recap, TOPG made a Bursa announcement yesterday that indicated its intentions to evaluate a dual primary listing on HK's stock exchange. It also stated that the evaluation process is in the preliminary stages and a structure has not been finalised.
- The company stated that the purpose of the proposed listing, if undertaken, is mainly to: i) have a presence in a larger, more active and liquid stock exchange, ii) enlarge and diversify its investor base and iii) provide an alternate and larger fund raising platform.

5-10% dilution to FY21-23 EPS assuming US$1bn-2bn is raised

- At this juncture, we are neutral on this matter as: i) key details remain scarce and ii) this news has yet to be confirmed by TOPG itself.
- Assuming that TOPG is aiming to raise up to US$1bn-2bn (RM4.1bn-8.2bn) from a primary HK listing, we believe that there could potentially be a 5.3-10% dilution to our current FY21-23F EPS. This is assuming that: i) TOPG will issue 460m-910m new shares at RM9.09/share, ii) no interest income from the IPO proceeds raised and iii) the cash is not used for any merger and acquisition (M&A) exercises.

Potential funds are likely to be used for expansion purposes

- In our view, the funds raised from the potential primary HK listing will mainly be utilised for: i) future capacity expansion plans or ii) potential M&A exercises. To recap, TOPG recently announced that it has earmarked up to RM10bn worth of capex over the next five years (FY8/21-FY8/26). This includes plans to raise its total glove production capacity by another 100bn pieces annually (currently 85.5bn pieces p.a.) as well as investments in other key areas such as automation, upgrades to workers' facilities and acquisition of land bank for future expansion.

Reiterate Add

- We make no changes to our Add call and TP of RM10.00 (17x CY22 P/E). We await further details on this matter. Note that we only peg TOPG to its current 5-year mean despite the current favourable operating environment and robust earnings prospects, as we acknowledge that FY21F could potentially be a one-off exceptional year.
- We continue to like TOPG, as it is the key beneficiary of higher glove demand owing to Covid-19 given its position as the world's largest glove maker.
- Potential re-rating catalysts include: i) swift resolution on the CBP ban placed on two of TOPG's subsidiaries, ii) better-than-expected demand for gloves and iii) higher-than-expected increase in selling prices. Downside risks: discovery of a cure/vaccine for Covid-19, stiff pricing competition, and a spike in raw material prices.
